Developing Psychic Powers

Welcome to A Course in Miracles: Living the Love, Walking the Talk with Reverend Jennifer Hadley, a beloved teacher of the course, who has helped thousands learn how to express their beliefs from moment to moment in their everyday lives. Get ready to focus on your intent to be the Love, be the Peace, through practical application.

Here is your host, Reverend Jennifer Hadley.

Jennifer      Hey there. So happy to take this breath and join with you today. I feel so blessed, so, so very blessed. Coming to you live from Salisbury, England. I am just riding a wave of spiritual glow from our Spiritual Counseling Training Intensive, which we finished the other day, and also the Sacred Sights Tour, which was a lot of fun. We've just been having a great time. People from, I guess we could say, three different continents, US, Australia, and a couple of countries in Europe. Really nice to be able to hit the road together and do the deep work together. Now, I get to go within and do the deep work with you, so let's begin with a prayer.

Opening Prayer

Taking the breath of Love and gratitude, we open our heart, we open our mind to the very highest possibility of Love. We're saying "Yes" to infinite Love, intelligence guiding us, liberating us.

We are grateful and thankful to join together for a Higher, Holy Purpose, so we consciously connect and commune with the Higher Holy Spirit Self.

We are grateful and thankful to let go of all belief in lack and limitation. We're grateful and thankful to let go any thought that there's something wrong with us, that we don't have what it takes.

We're grateful and thankful to open our hearts and minds to an unprecedented flow of healing goodness. We are consciously attuning our minds to our liberation. We're choosing it. We're opening our intuition, so that we can feel and see and sense and know and hear Divine Guidance and the inspiration.

We're letting go of all ego attachment to trying to figure things out, trying to understand them and make sense of them, and we're allowing ourselves instead to stand in the light of truth and just simply love ourselves free, and open our mind, our heart, to a higher inspiration.

In gratitude, we share the benefits with everyone because we're One with them. In gratitude, we allow our healing to be. We let it simply be, we know that it's done, and so it is. Amen. Amen. Amen!

Using Psychic Abilities to Make Money

Yes! What a blessing! Holy moley. I'm feeling good. From where I am right now, I can see the tower of the Salisbury Cathedral, which is one of my favorite sights. I've been able to walk around in the landscape, and drive through the towns, and go to Stonehenge, and do all my favorite things, really. Oh, I love it here. I love it here.

By the way, I'm just going to make a little personal plug here. If you live in the UK, I'm selling my car. You can contact me if you're interested. I'll just put it out there because it's such a great deal, and I'd rather sell it to somebody who could really use a great deal, rather than sell it to a car place. It's £600. It's Ford Focus. It's 2002. It's in excellent shape. Has 122,000 miles. I've taken really good care of it. It was completely warrantied. It's just gone out of the warranty, but it's all good. I'm happy to sell it on a payment plan. I just would love to transfer it to someone who can really use a great, inexpensive, really great car. 40 miles to the gallon; can't beat that. It's so good. I love this car. Anyway, onward and upward, thank you for indulging me, allowing me to do that.

Yes. Okay. Okeydokey. Our topic this week is about Psychic Powers. I've never done that. But you know what, in the Manual for Teachers, Chapter 25, it's entitled "Are Psychic Powers Desirable?" Are they desirable? Let's get in and see what it says here. Now, I think it's really valuable to start—I'm going to start with the last paragraph, and we'll work our way back to the beginning.

It's Manuals for Teachers, Chapter 25, and there's some key ego healing stuff in here. We're going to get to that. But it starts with talking about psychic powers, or intuition, as an ability.

It says here, "Any ability that anyone develops has the potentiality for good. To this there is no exception. And the more unusual and unexpected the power, the greater its potential usefulness. Salvation has need of all abilities..."

Salvation, our salvation, our waking up has need of all abilities. Developing all of our abilities is helpful.

"Salvation has need of all abilities for what the world would destroy the Holy Spirit would restore."

The Holy Spirit will restore our mind. I think we already know this. Looking at it in terms of our intuition or psychic powers, the Holy Spirit will restore that as well.

It says, "Psychic..." and again, it's in quotes here. "Psychic." "'Psychic' abilities have been used to call upon the devil..." Whoa! "...which merely means to strengthen the ego."

It's possible to strengthen the ego by developing psychic powers, using psychic powers. I got to tell you. I have seen that to be true. I've definitely experienced people who were in the moment deluded, and definitely had psychic powers and were using them, I wouldn't say for the devil, but certainly not for the purpose of bringing forth more Love into the world. They were doing it to make money, to deceive people. Yep, I've seen that happened.

Now, I'm just going to say as aside because it has popped into my mind as soon as I said that. What about using your psychic abilities to make money? Well, we could use our singing abilities to make money. We can use our artistic abilities to make money. Why couldn't we use our psychic abilities to use money? Nothing wrong with using our abilities to make money. It's really about what is our intention around it. Think of someone who is using their creative talents to make money.

I certainly use my talents to make money. I do. I use all my talents when I'm teaching classes, when I'm designing websites, or co-designing them, looking over that, all these different things that I do as part of the ministry. I'm using all my talents, believe me, my writing talents, my vocal talents, my thinking talents, my creative talents, my imagination talents. I'm using all of them.

"Whenever I Give, I Give to God"

Am I doing it for money? No, I am not. I am not interested in doing things for money. I made that decision a long time ago. It was probably about 11 years ago actually, 11, 12 years ago, that I made a decision that I was going to stop working for money and work only for Love. That was a huge turning point. Not just in my experience of the quality of my life, but it was a huge turning point in my abundance because I began to really move into this place of everything I give, I give to God. Everything I receive, I receive from God. Therefore, I don't need to keep score anymore. If I give and give and give and give to someone because that's what I'm directed to do, I am not expecting or anticipating anything in return from that one person. I'm giving to God. God is giving to me, and is always in a perfect flow, a perfect flow of Love.

It was such a huge relief for me to stop keeping score and to stop giving and receiving thinking that there were attachments to everything, being able to sever the ties of attachments was really, really liberating for me. Now, I give where I feel called to give, and I receive where I feel Spirit is giving to me. That's how I do it and that's how it stays harmonious and peaceful. I don't feel worried about over giving, and I have no concerns about whether or not someone's going to give back to me, because they'll give back to God as they feel moved. For me, it's about me giving to God where I feel moved. Since we're all part of the life of God, whenever I give, I give to God. Whenever I receive, I receive from God because there's no other place to give to and there's no other place to receive from. The score is always Love, Love. I love that. It makes it so much easier. It takes the ego right the heck out of it. Thank you, God.

We can use our intuitive abilities to make money. There's no problem with that. But are we doing it just to make money? So, I use my intuition doing the radio show. Radio show doesn't earn any money. We don't have all the commercials are for the Unity things. While I do let you know and give you reminders of events and opportunities and things, there's no income derived from the show. It's completely supported by listener donations.

I'm doing the radio show as—the Power of Love Ministry is offering the radio show as a gift. If people like to support it and make a donation or tithe their contribution, set up a monthly contribution, something like that, get a tax deductions, all that's all good. We're going to do the radio show, anyway, whether any money comes forward or not. Yes.

By the way, we are definitely working, working, working to get the radio shows transcribed. I'm really hoping that by the end of the month, I think definitely by the end of the month, we will be able to post quite a number of them on the website JenniferHadley.com, LivingACourseinMiracles.com, both websites. You'll be able to find those transcripts and download them for free. We have a commitment to download—rather to transcribe all of the radio shows.

Part of that is because so many people have told me they really appreciate the transcripts. Another part of it is that people who do not have English as a first language, then that really helps them. Also, one of the things that we're looking to do is to transfer all the radio show audios to YouTube and post them at YouTube with closed captioning, so that people, for instance, who—certainly for the deaf. That's another thing. The transcripts help the folks who are hard of hearing or deaf, hearing impaired. The videos can do that as well. With the videos and the closed captioning, which we need to have it transcribed before we can put it up with closed captioning, then what happens is we're able to offer that for people for whom English is the second language or there's hearing impairment. Yay! Yay for that. Just as an aside.

Making Our Gifts and Talents as Holy Offering

Okay, so back to psychic powers.

"'Psychic' abilities have been used to call upon the devil, which merely means to strengthen the ego. Yet here is also a great channel of hope and healing in the Holy Spirit's service. Those who have developed 'psychic' powers have simply let some of the limitations they laid upon their minds be lifted. It can be but further limitations they lay upon themselves if they utilize their increased Freedom for greater imprisonment."

If we use our psychic powers, our intuition, for the ego, then we're going to be increasing our sense of limitations, decreasing our sense of Freedom, further imprisoning ourselves.

It says, "The Holy Spirit needs these gifts, and those who offer them to the Holy Spirit and Holy Spirit alone go with Christ's gratitude upon their hearts, and the Holy Spirit's holy sight not far behind."

Oh, my heart just opens so much reading that. Ooh. Yes. With all of our gifts and talents, what we can do is we can make a holy offering of all our gifts and talents and say—there's a beautiful song that Michael Beckwith and Rickie Byars-Beckwith wrote called Use Me. Use me, Oh, God. Use my gifts and my talents. It's a beautiful song. It's very popular in Unity Churches. That offering my gifts and talents for the use of Spirit. May it all be shared. Hmm.

Fifth Dimensional Awareness

Chapter 25 in the Manual for Teachers is Are "Psychic" Powers Desirable? It begins with "The answer to this question is much like the preceding one. There are, of course, no 'unnatural' powers, and it is obviously merely an appeal to magic to make up a power that does not exist. It is equally obvious, however, that each individual has many abilities of which he is unaware. As his awareness increases, he may well develop abilities that seem quite startling to him. Yet nothing he can do can compare even in the slightest with the glorious surprise of remembering who he is. Let all his learning and all his efforts be directed toward this one great final surprise..."

In my own experience of developing my intuition, what I've seen is that the more I clear the clutter, emotional clutter, mental clutter from my mind, then the more my mind is clear and able to see and hear and know and feel the truth. I see this for other people as well, and I have to say sometimes it's quite startling how clearly my mind is, and how clearly perceive what's going on, all kind of insight and information that I normally would never have had access to, but because I'm clearing the clutter, I have room to know the truth, and to perceive more clearly. My intuition has just skyrocketed.

Now, one of the things I've come to understand just through my own experience and knowing, is that we do live in a multidimensional universe. The world of form is a multidimensional universe. While we're experiencing our multidimensionality, and the world of form, one of the things that we can notice is that we have the world that we can see and touch and smell and taste, that's our 3D experience. You could call it a reality, but A Course in Miracles calls it the illusion. In that 3D experience, it seems very real, and it does not seem like an illusion most of the time to us.

Now, in my own experience, I have learned that the fourth dimension is the world of thought, and that's where psychics are generally reading from, from the fourth dimension. The fifth dimension is when we can see beyond time and space to what is actually true. That's the thing that A Course in Miracles tells us is that—we were talking about this last week, that until our mind opens to that fifth dimensional reality, and A Course in Miracles does not talk about fifth dimension or fourth dimension, but for me it's helpful to use these terms to comprehend it better.

When our mind is open, when we have truly accepted the Atonement for ourselves, then we're going to see beyond time and space with the fifth dimensional awareness, we can see beyond time and space, and then we can know what everything is for. But until then, we do not have the point of view from which to discern what everything is for, so why judge anything until you really know what it's for? Until we accept the Atonement fully for ourselves, we won't know what anything is for. It's helpful to just stay in that place of "I don't know what anything is for, so I don't need to judge it. I don't need to label it."

As our mind is opening, we kind of dip in and out of fifth dimension, and that's what I find for myself. Sometimes I seem to be caught, snagged, snared a little bit, stuck in density, or a lot stuck in density sometimes. More and more, I'm finding myself aware it's an illusion, aware of where the opinions and the judgments are, where the truth is in my own awareness.

As our awareness increases, we may well develop abilities that are quite startling, and that's one of the things that I have found is sometimes my intuition is so clear and so accurate, at discerning things that I have no other way of knowing. It's quite amazing. At the same time, unless I'm just using that to be helpful with myself and others, there's not a lot of point in it.

For instance, I'm not interested in reading other people's minds, but I've known people that were interested in using psychic powers to predict the outcomes of sports events, and to make money on them, and things like that. Also, to control and manipulate people in ways that are, of course, unloving. None of that is helpful. We're interested in being truly helpful.

In Paragraph 2 of Chapter 25 in the Manual for Teachers, it says,

"... there are many 'psychic' powers that are clearly in line with this Course."

That's good news that there are many psychic powers that are in line with this Course. It's time for me to take a break, and we'll come back and talk about this after the break. I'm Jennifer Hadley. We're talking about developing psychic powers on A Course in Miracles where we're living the Love, we're walking the talk, on Unity Online Radio. I will be right back.

Thank you for tuning in for A Course in Miracles: Living the Love, Walking the Talk.

Get ready to focus on your intent to be the Love, be the Peace through practical application as we return to A Course in Miracles: Living the Love, Walking the Talk.

Distinctions Between Psychic and Intuition

Jennifer      Hey there. Welcome back. I'm Jennifer Hadley. We're talking about psychic powers and talking about how there are many psychic powers that are clearly in line with A Course in Miracles. It says—this is Manual for Teachers, Chapter 25, Paragraph 2.

It says, "Communication is not limited to the small range of channels the world recognizes. If it were, there would be little point in trying to teach salvation. It would be impossible to do so. The limits the world places on communication are the chief barriers to direct experience of the Holy Spirit, Whose Presence is always there and Whose Voice is available but for the healing."

Think about Helen Schucman hearing the voice of Jesus: and how does she hear that? She heard that through her intuition. You could say that that was a psychic power. For me, I prefer there's a distinction between psychic and intuitive, but Jesus isn't making that distinction. I find it helpful to think of reading from the fourth dimension of thought, which is all the thoughts that anybody has ever had. Whereas intuition is more reading what actually is versus what people think about it. Intuition is actually connecting to the source versus thoughts about life.

It says here, "When we put limits—when the world places limits on communication, these limits are placed out of fear, for without them, without the limits, the walls that surround all the separate places of the world would fall at the holy sound of the Holy Spirit's Voice. Who transcends these limits in any way is merely becoming more natural."

This is something I speak a lot about, about our natural state, our natural gifts and talents. I find it so helpful to remember that our natural state is perfect. I think it was today, sometimes I get lost in time and space, I can't remember where I am. I think it was today the blog I wrote this morning was about—oh, yesterday. I AM statements and I AM Affirmations, that using the I AM statement. I AM perfect, and using that as my affirmation. I've just been loving it. I AM perfect. I AM perfect. I AM perfect. Try it out and see how it feels, and you might be interested in reading that Spiritual Espresso I wrote about using affirmation. That was for Monday, September 12.

It says here, we're becoming more natural when we transcend the perceived limits of communication, start to open up the communicative powers of our mind.

It says, "When we're doing nothing special, and there is no magic in our accomplishments."

[unintelligible] people are very intuitive or who have psychic abilities. There's a sense that they're special. Then people aspire to have psychic abilities or intuitive abilities so that they will be special. Of course, when we're traveling into the land of specialness, we're traveling into the land of the ego, and that's not helpful to us. That's limiting to us.

Just looking at and examining even what's our intuition for, is it to make us more special? Are we trying to cultivate our intuition in order to feel more special? If so, can we just let the idea for a need for specialness go? Give it to the Holy Spirit for healing.

Allowing the Holy Spirit to Lead and Guide Us

In Paragraph 3, it says, "The seemingly new abilities that may be gathered on the way can be very helpful. Given to the Holy Spirit..."

When we give our talents to the Holy Spirit, and they're used under the Holy Spirit's direction, they are valuable teaching aids. I certainly found that to be true of my intuition, a valuable teaching aid. It's a valuable learning tool and a teaching tool for me.

It says here, "To this, the question of how they arise is irrelevant. The only important consideration is how they are used."

Consider this: if you really like to develop your intuition, and I honestly feel it's one of those wisest things we can make the decision to do. Instead of trying to figure out how, allow. Of course, that's what I always say, right? You don't need to figure out how, just allow. Allow the Holy Spirit to lead you and guide you. Even that just feels so much easier than trying to figure out how.

The "how" of it rests largely on opening our hearts and minds to the flow of Love, and giving up limiting thoughts, thoughts of lack, attack, limitation, and separation, clearing the mental and emotional clutter. That's what's helpful to us in developing our intuition. Because if we're already convinced of our opinions and judgments, if we already think we know how things should be and shouldn't be, then, hey, what do we need intuition for? What do we need the Holy Spirit for? We've already made up our mind.

When we've made up our minds like that, then our mind is not open to the Holy Spirit to guide us.

It says here, "Taking the talents..." [unintelligible] psychic powers, the intuitions, "...as ends in themselves, no matter how this is done, will delay progress."

If our goal is to develop our intuition, just so we can be more intuitive, that's actually going to delay our progress, but if we give our gifts to the Holy Spirit to be used for the highest and best purposes, it will speed us along in developing our gifts and talents, whatever they are.

It says, "Their value doesn't lie in proving anything; achievements from the past, unusual attunement with the 'unseen,' or 'special' favors from God."

The value of our intuitive abilities, our psychic abilities does not lie in achievements from the past, unusual attunement with the unseen, or special favors from God. Let's not make ourselves special for our gifts and talents, whatever they are. It could be intuition. It could be psychic powers. Like I said before, it could be you're a really great cook, or a really great gardener, or you have a great singing voice, or you're brilliant at math, whatever it is, give it to the Spirit for best use to benefit all beings.

To Work Only for Love

It says, "God gives no special favors, and no one has any powers that are not available to everyone. Only by tricks of magic are special powers 'demonstrated.'"

Magic is useless to the Holy Spirit. If we're using psychic powers or intuitive abilities for magic, in other words, to make something happen, to improve things in the world, to make money, to make us feel important, to do anything that's really is about changing the world versus changing our mind, then we've got into tricks and magic.

It says, "What the Holy Spirit uses cannot be used for magic. There is, however, a particular appeal in unusual abilities that can be curiously tempting. Here are strengths which the Holy Spirit wants and needs. Yet the ego sees in these same strengths an opportunity to glorify itself. Strengths turned to weakness are tragedy indeed. Yet what is not given to the Holy Spirit must be given to weakness, for what is withheld from Love is given to fear, and will be fearful in consequence."

Wow! Strength turn to weakness are tragedy indeed. Our strength can be our gifts and talents if we're using them for ego to get something, to get applause, to get appreciation, to get recognition, to get validation, to get money, to get power, rather than to be of service. It's that simple. Give everything to the Holy Spirit to use, to be of service. That's the path of happiness that I have found. Take all my gifts and talents, take everything I have.

I love the prayer of Joel Goldsmith in Thunder of Silence where he says, "Take my health, take my wealth, take everything, and give me only more you. Let me not make of you, God, my messenger boy. Everything I have, take it and use it, all I'm interested in is more God, more God, more God." That awakening, that atonement, that's all we're interested in. Every use of our gifts and talents is to be truly helpful, to be that loving presence, that helpful presence to wake up and rise above the illusion.

If we're using our gifts and talents, whatever they are, whatever they are to get stuff, to validate us, to improve our stature, to be special, then we're just going down the same old ego road of [unintelligible]. Let's stay on the high road and stay off the low road.

When our strengths, our gifts and talents, are given to the Holy Spirit for use, they are strengths indeed. When we take our strengths and we use them to be special, to get stuff, then our strengths become our weaknesses.

I'm going to invite you right now, just to see, is there any place in your life where you've proved that? Is there any place in your life where you've taken your gifts and talents, and you could say you prostituted them, maybe not in a sexual way, but you've sold your gifts and talents for money, and your strengths, and then it turned to weakness. It did not turn out well. This could be true for anyone.

I worked many years as an administrative assistant. It's possible to use any kind of a gift or talent you have in a way that you're selling yourself for money. That's why I say it was a huge turning point in my life when I made the decision not to work for money anymore, but to work only for Love.

Now, think about it: when I made that decision, I was being made an hourly wage, I was trading time for money, but I decided I'm not going to do that anymore. I'm going to keep doing the same work I'm doing, but I'm not going to do it for money anymore. I'm going to do it only for Love, which didn't mean I was refusing the paycheck, but I flipped a switch in my mind and said, "I'm doing this as an opportunity to share Love, not just to get money." It transformed my life. It really did. It was that switch I flipped that allowed me to really move into ministry.

Being of Service to the Light

Now, it says here, Paragraph 5 of this Chapter 25 in the Manual for Teachers,

"Even those who no longer value the material things of the world may still be deceived by 'psychic' powers. As investment has been withdrawn from the world's material gifts, the ego has been seriously threatened. It may still be strong enough to rally under this new temptation to win back strength by guile."

I think one of the most helpful things to me is that when I was in ministerial school and studying with Michael Beckwith, he told stories of recognizing certain—we could say psychic powers or gifts that he realized he had, and opportunities to explore psychic phenomena. He said that he realized that there was no value to exploring psychic phenomena because it wouldn't make him any more awake, but he could see the ego temptation to play in psychic phenomena and in discovering those kinds of psychic experiments, that it could—learning to bilocate, and to pop out of your body and be able to stand over your body and see your body, travel in other dimensions. He said he realized that there was really no real benefit to any of that, and so he decided not to experiment with it anymore.

I'm so grateful that I heard him say that, because when I heard him discussing it, I realized, you know what, that makes perfect sense to me. I never got interested in psychic phenomena. I just stayed my Course with I'm interested in waking up. I'm interested in being completely loving. I'm interested in being truly helpful, and accepting the atonement for myself, and having fun, living a beautiful life, being of service, and being of service to the light with my whole life. That's what I'm interested in. That has been not only incredibly joyful, but deeply healing and helpful to me. It also was the end of my experience of really living steeped in lack and limitation thinking. It's interesting how these things go together.

Back to Paragraph 5, it says, "The ego "may still be strong enough to rally under this temptation to experiment with psychic phenomena in order to win back strength by guile."

Guile is manipulation.

It says, "Many people have not seen through the ego's defenses here, although they are not particularly subtle. Yet, given a remaining wish to be deceived, deception is made easy."

Sometimes when a person is really interested in psychic phenomena, they're interested in being deceived. They're interested still in being special. And haven't we seen that in spiritual teachers, that they still would like to be special? I definitely—I have a lot of that when I was teaching at the beginning. I didn't feel special enough, so I was interested in feeling special. Now, I'd rather be helpful than special because I know that being special, it's just going to come back and hit me on the head. I'd rather not go for special anymore.

It says, "Now, the 'power'", psychic power, the intuitive power "is no longer a genuine ability" when we're trying to be special.

It "is no longer a genuine ability and cannot be used dependably. It is almost inevitable that, unless the individual changes his mind about the purpose of his gifts and talents, he will bolster his 'power's' uncertainties with increasing deception."

Then what would happen when we're going for the special, "I'm so special because I'm so psychic or so intuitive, " then we're going to start bolstering our sense of how powerful we are, how special we are. We're going to be grasping for things to make it seem real. We're going to build stories around it. It's just going down a huge path of ego detour.

How do we avoid all of that? Let's go back to the beginning, and the question that the name of the chapter asks: “Are Psychic Powers Desirable?”

Rather than really determining are psychic powers desirable, what is desirable? What is desirable is to know our true identity, to discover our natural state of perfection and to live in our naturalness. That's what's desirable. If it is helpful to me to become psychic, or intuitive, or anything like that, or to develop any gift or talent along the way, singing, dancing, drawing, cooking, whatever is the gift or talent that I can cultivate to be more helpful, to be more joyful, to be in service to the Spirit: Holy Spirit, show me how to develop it. Lead me and guide me to developing it. Is one talent better than the other? No.

The world certainly admires people who have tremendous creative talents. But I got to say in my lifetime, I met people who were extremely talented. Their whole relationship to their talent was through the ego, and they were not happy, and they were not in service to God, and they were having all kinds of painful learning experiences related to their gifts and talents.

Also, I've known people who had a multiplicity of kinds of talents, not just would seem like creative talent or artistic talent, all kinds of talents. But if they don't put it to use for the Spirit, it doesn't lead to their Joy and happiness. It doesn't lead to their awakening. Let's just give all of our talents and abilities, all of our health and our wealth, give our whole mind, and every ability we have to the Holy Spirit for its use in leading us to remember our naturalness. Our natural state is perfect Love. I AM perfect. I am grateful to know it is so. Yes, indeed.

Upcoming Spiritual Events

Yes, I'd like to close us out here, mention a few things that are coming up and going on. Later this week, I'll be in Germany. This weekend, I'll be in Frankfurt, Germany. Then the week after, I'll be in Australia. You can go to the events page at JenniferHadley.com. You can discover all those workshops. I'm going to be doing workshops on inspiration and intuition. I'm going to be doing workshops on Freedom from Fear and a number of different things. I'd love to see you in person. Maybe you have a friend in Germany or Australia, you can direct them to the website. I think most of these workshops are being done on a Love offering, or low cost. Let me just say, no one's going to be turned away for lack of funds. That's for sure. Not when I'm in the room. I would love to just gather as many people as possible to do this deep healing work together. It's so much fun.

In October, I've got two retreats in North Carolina at the Art of Living Retreat Center in Boone, North Carolina. It's going to be leaf peeping season. The leaves are turning. We're going to be up at the Blue Ridge Mountains. It's going to be gorgeous and spectacular. We've got a wonderful retreat center. I just love it there! I invite you to come and join us. We've got Living A Course in Miracles retreat, October 7th to 10th. It's a weekend retreat. Then the following weekend, Forgive and Be Free Retreat. Come on down. We've got payment plans. We can help you out. Love to have you there with us.

In November, there's a few things. There's a Spiritual Counseling Training Intensive. You can do that for our CEUs toward continuing licensing units. If you're a professional, and if you are not a professional, you're welcome to come and we can support you in developing those skills, those gifts and talent, and seeing if a spiritual career and spiritual counseling is something that's for you to develop at this time, and how we can help you.

Then there's also the Self-Love and Extreme Pampering retreat in Thailand. We're going to be doing some sightseeing in Bangkok, then at the end of the year, beginning of the New Year, New Year's Reboot Retreat with me at the Art of Living Retreat Center in North Carolina once again. Lots of opportunities for us to do the deep healing work.

We just did extraordinary work here in Salisbury, England, and it's been really, truly miraculous time of healing for everyone, just extraordinarily healing and nourishing to be together. I invite you to come join with me again soon.

Closing Prayer

I'm going to say a brief prayer here. Let's place our hand on our heart and give thanks.

We're giving thanks that we're giving all of our gifts and talents to the Higher Holy Spirit Self for the use of Spirit. We're grateful and thankful to dedicate ourselves to being truly helpful. We are willing and available to know ourselves as intuitive, loving and free. We're sharing the benefits with everyone. Grateful and thankful to know it is so. We let it be, and so it is. Amen. Amen, Amen, Amen.

Mwah! Next week, I'll be in Germany. Love you.
