Working for God, Inc.

Welcome to A Course in Miracles: Living the Love, Walking the Talk with Reverend Jennifer Hadley, a beloved teacher of the Course, who has helped thousands learn how to express their beliefs from moment to moment in their everyday lives. Get ready to focus on your intent to be the Love, be the Peace through practical application.

Here is your host, Reverend Jennifer Hadley.

Jennifer Hey there. Bonjour! So happy to join with you today. Yeah. It feels like summer is actually arriving here in Maine on Deer Isle. It started to be a little bit warm which is nice and much appreciated. Yeah.

Let us jump into a prayer here and open our hearts and open our minds. Our beginning is always with a prayer because that is the thing that locks us into that connection with the Spirit. Our topic this week is Working for God, Incorporated. I'm excited for what's coming through today.

Opening Prayer

We place our hand on our heart and we take a breath of Love and gratitude, opening ourselves gratefully and thankfully to our recognition of the pure Love of God as our very essence and nature. We're already as holy as holy can be and we're grateful and thankful to recognize and remember it now.

We are the two or more who are gathered in the name and the nature of the Christ for the purpose of Partnering UP with the Holy Spirit to recognize the fullness of Love in our brothers and sisters. We're opening ourselves into a Divine Vocation. We are consciously saying, "Yes," to being of service to the Light. We are saying, “Yes,” to the Freedom to let go of the past. We are off loading the past and stepping into the joyful loving present.

Taking a breath of Love and gratitude together, we are grateful to make a holy offering of every thought that’s false, every identification that’s untrue. We are so grateful to allow the Holy Spirit to do the heavy lifting of our opinions, our judgments, our belief in lack and limitation, our habits of mentally thinking lack and attack are dissolving and resolving permanently back to the root cause right now and we give thanks for this.

We’re interested in seeing with Divine Vision and living a life of great compassion, great Love, great awakening.

In gratitude, we let it be, and so it is. Amen. Amen, Amen.

Walking on the Pathway of Forgiveness

Yes. Yes. We’re going to be looking this week at Chapter 12, Section VII, Looking Within. It’s my page 229.

It begins with, “Miracles demonstrate that learning has occurred under the right guidance, for learning is invisible and what has been learned can be recognized only by its results.”

It’s helpful here to remember that the definition of a miracle in A Course in Miracles is really when we align our thinking with the truth, when we let go of separation thinking and we choose to recognize, remember, affirm, and live in the awareness of the truth. That is the miracle.

Miracles demonstrate in form because we have a shift in thinking and then our experience changes.

I woke up yesterday morning and I heard in my mind—oh, I’m just going through this. There’s chakra clearing in my throat chakra and it’s so interesting how so often when I’m speaking and teaching, it just—the clearing is happening. It’s like the Spirit is using that energetic. I’m grateful for that because my prayer is to be the clear ringing bell of truth with every word, with every action, with every choice.

I’m just going to take a sip of my spiritual espresso here.

I woke up yesterday morning and in my mind, you could say, I thought, I heard, I felt all these ways of perceiving intuition guidance, they’re just—they’re all the same in a sense. But there was this thought, my only job is forgiveness. My only job is forgiveness. Forgiveness is my job. That's my job.

It made me so happy. Why it made me so happy is because it's a clear directive.

One of the wonderful teachings from the Bible is to think about the birds and the flowers, and to see that the birds are cared for that they will be provided for, and are not—we, as important, or even more important to the creator God than the birds, and see how the lilies of the field spin and toil not, yet they are arrayed, like Solomon's finest. In other words, the beautiful lilies in the field, they don't have to work the way that we sometimes work in our daily life and yet they have the finest clothing that could possibly imagined, right. The lilies to the field are so gorgeous and beautiful and they don't have to earn it.

Our only job is forgiveness. This is the message of A Course in Miracles. When we take that to our heart and really walk with it in our heart and live it moment by moment. That's my whole thing Living A Course in Miracles, right? My website LivingACourseinMiracles.com, the Class is Living A Course in Miracles. Living, living, Living A Course in Miracles.

When we're living it from our heart, then what begins to happen, if we're really sincere, is we have experiences in the world that are challenging, right, in our relationships with our coworkers, with our loved ones, with our representatives, the politics, et cetera, all these things going on in the world. When we are walking in the world and we experience a challenge like someone has a sarcastic remark, the opportunity is there not to take offense, but to stay in our open heart. As I often to say, our open heart is the safest place in the world. Our open heart is the safest place in the world. There's the opportunity to take offense all day long.

I know. I used to be an offense taker. I was a complainer and a critic, and an offense taker. It was really my way of being in the world. I begin to realize I can serve the Light all day long if I really take nonjudgment as my job. I prefer the word "nonjudgment" to "forgiveness," because that's really what forgiveness is, is letting go of the judgment.

Practicing Non-Judgment

I started to walk on that pathway of forgiving everything as I was sharing in my yearlong Masterful Living Class last night. I was sharing about how I begin to pray to forgive everything in all directions of time and space which I don't recommend because it also made my life into an upheaval of everything in my face to forgive. I was saying that I have great stamina and strength, inner fortitude. I really do. I'm very, very grateful for that. Spirit has made me the very strong constitution. It was exhausting. It was exhausting, but I cleared a lot in a very few years and I'm very grateful for that because my life is peaceful now. Even when things seem to be very threatening to those around me, I don't feel threatened or I might just feel a little something, and then I realized, "Oh, I can give that to the Holy Spirit."

I've never been more clear in my life that it is not my job to figure anything out. It is my job simply to remove the blocks to Love that are being shown to me by the Holy Spirit.

I'll just mention that I have come to recognize that Holy Spirit is another name for guardian angel. It is another name for I AM that I AM. It is another name for the Higher Self. It is all the same energetic. It is that perfect guide director that is our own true nature, our own true identity. When I feel--it's very helpful when we look at it that way. I also have learned that I can go to Jesus, to the Ascended Masters, the company of Heaven, the angels, and the all that is holy, all day long and give away all worries and concerns. Give him away, give him away, give him away. Yes, indeed.

Working for God, Incorporated is all about practicing nonjudgment. If we judge, if we take offense, if we experience something and we interpret it, we make the meaning of it that it's offensive, that it's hurtful, that is wrong and bad, that somebody's done something to us that is not for our good and we hold it as a resentment or we've done something that now we regret. Whenever there's a judgment, there's an opportunity for us to give it over to the Holy Spirit, have a healing, and experience true forgiveness. But the faster walk of glory is to practice nonjudgment. So, yes, we still have things to forgive every day.

A Peaceful Happy Learner

For instance, I remember things on a regular basis that happened when I was a child, when I was teenager, when I was younger, a couple of weeks ago, a month ago, whatever it was that I see, “Oh, I could’ve been more loving then,” or, “Oh, I took that as an offense. I took that as an attack, and I still haven’t let go of that judgment.” Things bubble up into my mind like bubbles coming up to the surface of the lake.

Every day, there’s an opportunity to be of service to the Light, to work for God, Incorporated by giving those things that are coming up for healing to the Holy Spirit to do the heavy lifting. All that’s required is our willingness. A Course in Miracles in the Trust and Faith Section, Development of Trust in the Manual for Teachers, which is the Chapter IV, Characteristics of the Teachers of God. The first one is trust. I highly you recommend you read that once a week. What I recommend to the folks in my Masterful Living Course is to read the Trust and Faith Section in Development of Trust in Chapter IV of the Manual for Teachers every day for a week and then once a week after that just to remind you, really, about how essential trust is to our awakening. Through practicing trust, we develop faith. When we have faith, then we really can be of service to the Light.

When we are giving over our resentments and our regrets, the guilt, the shame, the blame, the opinions, the judgments, the criticisms, the hurts, all of it, to the Holy Spirit for healing, we’re doing it in trust and faith that our mind will be healed and we will experience more Peace, more Love, more Joy. That’s how it works.

In order to really experience the more Peace, more Love, more Joy, we must be sincere in giving those things to the Holy Spirit for healing. We decide that we’re not interested in them anymore. This often requires us to look within. That’s why we’re looking at Chapter 12, Section VII, Looking Within and understanding what miracles are.

It says here that we recognize that our mind has changed and that we’re experiencing miracles by the results.

For instance, as I was saying now, my life is peaceful. I won’t say I have no stress. I certainly won’t say I don’t get frustrated or irritated. I do, but not like I used to. I used to live in torment. I really did, especially when you compared to how things are for me now. You can ask the folks on my staff. There are so many times when people make errors, as we all do. I make errors all the time. I'm just not bothered by it. Sometimes, I get bothered, but most of the time I just—let's just find the path of excellence and stay on it and we learn from our errors and that's what errors are for, to help us learn, and nothing wrong or bad is happening.

Most of the time that's how it feels to me and I'm grateful to be able to learn anything at all. I'm grateful to be the peaceful happy learner most of the time.

Trusting Spirit to Heal Our Mind

It says here, "You will recognize that you have learned there is no order of difficulty in miracles when you apply them to all situations."

This is part of the key of working for God, Incorporated is to not keep anything back from God or from the Holy Spirit, right? This is where one of the main places where I see that spiritual students make it harder for themselves, much harder than it has to be.

For instance, if they're in the car accident and they're injured, they're going to be praying for assistance from the Holy Spirit. They're going to be praying for assistance from God and the angels and the healing. Now, if they are feeling frightened about paying their bills, they're probably going to be praying for help and assistance. But if they're irritated and frustrated by the traffic, are they going to try and manage that by themselves or they're going to give it to the Holy Spirit for healing? If they're feeling upset because the dinner got burned, are they're going to bring that upset to the Holy Spirit for healing? If they're feeling upset because their spouse got drunk again and said something awful, are they going to give that to the Holy Spirit for healing or they're going to hold it back for themselves and now they're going to give their spouse the cold treatment, they're going to yell at them, they're going to say blame, shame, guilt, lay all those trips on, the guilt trip, the shame trip, the blame trip, all over their spouse or will they give the healing to the Holy Spirit?

The way to really work for God, Incorporated, to really serve the Light is to stop sorting by level of difficulty and thinking, "Oh, I'm going to manage these things and I'll give these things to the Holy Spirit."

This is what I see, I see that in times when people are sad and angry and depressed, they are--as it says in A Course in Miracles, if you're depressed, it's because you're being deprived of something, but nobody can deprive you, but you. There's a judgment in there. If you're depressed, there's judgment in there. There could be many factors. Many, many, many factors involved in that depression. But somewhere in there, there's an opinion, there's a judgment that is not being relinquished to the Holy Spirit for healing.

The practice of nonjudgment has—I've seen it heal so many people's experience of depression and suicidal tendencies, just a practice of non-judgment. I've seen it heal people's arthritis and chronic pain. I see it every year in Masterful Living. I even see it in Finding Freedom, my spiritual boot camp class that—which is 90-day class. People have amazing healing according to their willingness.

In our Working for God, Incorporated, the main things that we're doing are being willing to have trust that Spirit will heal our mind. Rather than asking Spirit to heal the world, we ask Spirit to heal our mind about the world. We only have to be willing to call forth the healing and to accept it and allow it. We don't have to figure out how to have it.

While we can do lots of wonderful things, like meditating, and contemplating, enchanting, and doing yoga, and reading spiritual books, and journaling, I love all of those things. I enjoy them very much. They're all part of my life, but I need do nothing. I enjoy doing those things. They are a way of affirming my willingness and that's why they're so satisfying to me, because I love to demonstrate my willingness, because I am so aware of all the benefits I receive from being willing, that the Peace I have now, the Joy I have now, the Freedom I have now, the Prosperity I have now, all the well-being I have now, the Love I have now is all a result of my willingness. It's the willingness to have trust in Spirit to do the heavy lifting.

That's really what the forgiveness is, it's giving to Spirit our judgments and opinions for healing while having the trust and the faith that Spirit will do the heavy lifting, of figuring out how to get these thoughts out of our mind when they have been so stuck and entrenched there. You see, but there's no order of difficulties and that's what it says here.

Sharing the Same Mind

You will recognize that you have learned there is no order of difficulty in miracles when you apply them to all situations. In order to begin to have a far more miraculous life, apply it to every situation, and why not? Why not? More of our precious life energy of upset, irritation, frustration, guilt, shame, blame, regret, resentment goes on with the small things than the big things.

I had an experience recently where something got broken at the house here and, honestly, it was something that I happened to really, really like and it just got broken. It just happened. It got left in a place where something in the wind blew and hit and it shattered, broke. The understanding was that someone was responsible for putting it away. They didn't put it away. Stuff happens.

I saw that it was broken and I didn't feel bothered by it at all, really. I was just like--no, actually, I'm going to say, initially, when I first saw it, I went, "Aw," but then I was like, "You know, stuff happens. We're making way for more beautiful things. This is for the good for some way."

Well, then the person who was involved in perhaps having put it out of harm's way, thought, and felt guilty about it and said, "I'd like to pay you for it. Buy you a new one." I said, no, it's really not necessary. It's really truly not necessary. Stuff happens, don't worry about it all. It's just life."

They said--well, they came back to me again and said, "I really—I would like to make amends for it." I said, "Really, it's just absolutely not necessary." I said, "I'll tell you this. You can give me anything you like if you'd like to give me something. I will accept it and receive it with Love and gratitude. However, if you're giving it to me because you feel guilty, I don't wish to receive that, because I don't wish to energize you feeling guilty because there's no value in that. There's only harm can come from that. I am totally okay with it. Totally. I really, really am. I am and I was."

Then, that person came back to me a couple of days later and said, "I've really been looking at the role that guilt plays in my life and seeing how it's threaded into many things." If that's not worth the damage, the breakage, I don't know what is. Do you see what I mean? I don't know what anything is for, but everything is for my good. That's for my good, because we share the same mind. They're healing. They're looking at guilt now as my healing. We share the same mind. It benefits me.

I could've gone down a whole different road. I've done that in the past. I've made people feel guilty. I've intended to make them feel guilty and ashamed for having done something to me, but I'm not interested in going down that road anymore. I'm really not. My ego is sometimes, but I am not and I am not the ego.

I've learned to be able to say to the ego, "Hang on." As Ken Wapnick told me that he would say to himself, "That way madness lies," from King Lear. "That way madness lies." I spend a lot of years feeling absolutely crazy and depraved, literally, and I'm not going back there. No way, Jose. I don't even want to go back there for five minutes. I really don't. There's no thing that's worth it. Not one thing at all. Nothing. I am grateful to live the way that I live now. Yes, I am.

Spiritual Counseling Certification Program

Yeah. I'm going to mention this that I've got coming up in just about—oh, just a little under a week now, actually, my next Spiritual Counseling Training Intensive. I have a Spiritual Counseling Certification Program for people who would like to be certified as counselors. It's a comprehensive program and it's very much designed for people to feel absolutely empowered, because this is one of the things I see with a lot of coaches, and therapists, and life coaches, and family therapists, and different kinds of counselors, that they don't feel fully empowered to do their work. They are doubting themselves and sometimes they are judging their clients, and complaining about their clients, and then feeling guilty and ashamed that they're complaining about their clients and judging their clients.

My certification program is designed to eliminate those things, so that the person who chooses this really feels empowered to be that loving presence and they actively are contributing to people living a miraculous life. However, they are incorporating it into their work.

My Spiritual Counseling Training Intensive is a week-long intensive that's part of my certification program. The intensive is open to anyone. We do have professionals, professional coaches and therapists of all kinds. But we also have people who are parents and grandparents, businessmen and women, people who are Tarot card readers, people who are just a myriad, teachers, grandparents, all kinds of folks who are interested in developing their intuition, practicing nonjudgment, healing their mind, and being of service, being able to be a good listener and a good communicator in their relationships.

Many people take this intensive week-long training for the fun of it, for the joy of it, for the healing of it, and it is open to everyone. We usually have a small group and that makes it really delightful and it is an intensive, so it definitely is its work, its work. I know one person—Linda said that it was the best thing she ever did for herself besides having children. Another person, Mina, who had been in class with me for years, she pulled me aside and said, “Jennifer, I have no idea it could be this good.”

I have to say that when I’m doing them, I feel like it is the absolute crème de la crème of what I do, it just is so joyful to be in the energy of it. We do have one starting on June 19th and the next one will be in mid-October. When I come back from the break, I’ll give you those dates.

Alright. It’s time for me to take a break. I’m Jennifer Hadley. You’re listening to A Course in Miracles on Unity Online Radio. We’re living the Love. We’re walking the talk. We’ll be right back.

Thank you for tuning in for A Course in Miracles: Living the Love, Walking the Talk.

Get ready to focus on your intent to be the Love, be the Peace through practical application as we return to A Course in Miracles: Living the Love, Walking the Talk.

Upcoming Spiritual Events

Jennifer Hey there, welcome back. Welcome back. Welcome back. I am going to give you those dates. In fact, what I’m looking at doing is doing a Forgiveness retreat.

Okay. Here’s some just quick events. I am doing the Weekend of Freedom Retreat in North Carolina with Dov Fishman, a whole bunch of wonderful A Course in Miracles folks that is the weekend, the first weekend in October. Then I’m looking at doing a Forgiveness retreat the second week in October, also in North Carolina, and then the week after that doing the Spiritual Counseling Training, something like October 16th to the 22nd, so just to give you those dates.

I'm talking about also possibly doing a forgiveness weekend retreat in the first weekend in November in the UK, in the UK. I love to go to the UK. Alright, that's all the information and more to be coming soon.

Remembering to be Loving

"There is no situation to which miracles do not apply, and by applying them to all situations you will gain the real world."

This is one of the critical errors that spiritual students make and I realized—I've realized so many times that I was doing it myself, "Oh, I didn't give that to the Holy Spirit. Oh, I didn't give that to the Holy Spirit." There are no levels of difficulty, but the ego likes to—it's all about compare and contrast to the ego, right? That's how the ego learns, compare and contrast. Compare and contrast. But that's not the way to learn.

A Course in Miracles tells us that what we're really doing is remembering. We're coming home. We're coming back to the real world, right, where the prodigal son venturing back, returning home.

The way to really authentically move into a much faster awakening is to recognize we're remembering not learning. Therefore, we don't have to go through experiences in the world of form in order to learn. We can simply remember, remember. So, we can remember how to be completely loving and patient and kind. We don't have to learn. Experiential learning isn't the fastest route for us. The fastest route for us is to ask and it is given. That's the fastest route. To be in that Divine Partnership, that's why I call it Partnering UP with the Higher Holy Spirit Self.

Extending the Love for Our Brothers and Sisters

It says, "For in this holy perception you will be made whole, and the Atonement will radiate from your acceptance of it for yourself to everyone the Holy Spirit sends you for your blessing."

This is the thing, how we work for God, Incorporated, we're sending a blessing in every moment. We're consciously giving a blessing, sharing a blessing, being a blessing, receiving the blessing.

It says, "In every child of God His blessing lies, and in your blessing of the children of God is God blessing to you." God's blessing to you.

“Everyone in the world must play his part in its redemption in order to recognize that the world has been redeemed. You cannot see the invisible. Yet, if you see its effects, you know it must be there.”

We wake up through our feeling of Love, of compassion, of Harmony, of Joy, of Peace.

I did a radio episode a couple of months ago about the difference between emotions and feelings. We learn to feel God’s direction. We learn to hear God’s direction. We learn to see beyond what we can see with our eyes to what we see with our mind. Our mind can open up so vastly, it’s amazing. It’s just amazing.

I get intuition all the time about things. Just all the time. It’s so helpful to me to have this awareness. This person could use a call now. This person could use a hug now. This person can use a kind word now. This person, whatever--to just be able to reach out, gently, sweetly, kindly, and to share. That’s extending Love and that’s working for God, Incorporated. Extending Love is what it’s all about.

We can do it anywhere and most wonderfully we can do it with people who are what we would term as complete strangers. It’s wonderful to be able to stand in a Starbucks waiting online and to bless everyone there and to feel like such a blessing. It’s just wonderful to be able to stand in line at the blood bank and be able to bless everyone there, and to be there to receive the blessing.

You know it’s even wonderful to be in a challenging situation with anyone and to be able to hold to the Love and the Peace and watch the difference that it makes, how it shifts the energy in the room, how it shifts the tone of the conversation, and how it definitely shifts the outcome, right? If we’re going to be nonjudgmental, we can’t simultaneously be in fear, because the cause of fear is the judgment.

We’re training ourselves to recognize when there is fear, there must be a judgment, and to realize there’s no big or small, no difficulty, no order of difficulty. In other words, healing the body is not more difficult than healing the mind, healing the emotional body is not more difficult or less difficult than healing the physical body or the mental body, and that there’s a benefit to everything for us.

How could have I seen the benefit of not being upset by the breakage or even the breakage? How could I've seen the benefit of that breakage to my friend's life? I couldn't have seen that. I mean, maybe, but it certainly wasn't apparent immediately. But when I thought—oh, I thought, oh, isn't God good? Then, of course, it just was even more clear how everything works together for good, there are no errors. Everything.

Reward in Heaven

Let's go back to the Text here.

"You cannot see your strengths, but you gain confidence in their existence as they enable you to act. And the results of your actions you can see."

The Holy Spirit is invisible, but you can see the results of His Presence, and through them you will learn that He is there. What He enables you to do is clearly not of this world, for miracles..."

Ooh, the wind just blew my--

"...validate every law of reality as this world judges it. Every law of time and space, of magnitude and mass, is transcended, for what the Holy Spirit enables you to do is clearly beyond all of them. Perceiving the Holy Spirit's results, you will understand where He must be and finally know what He is.

You cannot see the Holy Spirit, but you can see His manifestations. And unless you do, you will not realize He is there. Miracles are His witnesses and speak for His Presence. What you cannot see becomes real to you only through the witnesses who speak for it. For you can be aware of what you cannot see, and it can become compellingly real to you as its presence becomes manifest through you. Do the Holy Spirit's work, for you share in His function. As your function in Heaven is creation, so your function on earth is healing. God shares His function with you in Heaven, and the Holy Spirit shares His with you on earth.

As long as you believe you have other functions, so long will you need correction. For this belief is the destruction of peace, a goal in direct opposition to the Holy Spirit's purpose."

Forgiveness is my function. Really, if we just take it as living without judgment, making no interpretation, making no meaning of things, opening our heart to the presence unfolding, saying, "I don't know what anything is for," then we're working to serve the Light. We're working for God, Incorporated and our reward is Heaven. It's Heaven now, not in the great by and by, but absolutely unfolding now.

Of course, it goes on to remind us, “You see what you expect, and you expect what you invite.”

This is the thing that we recognize is we begin to see how focused we are on lack and separation. For instance, if I'm thinking that I have to heal my frustration, I have to heal my headache, I have to heal anything in my life, if I have to fix it and make it right, I'm going to get what I expect. I'll probably be disappointed. I probably won't feel the great Love. I'll feel that it's difficult and it's hard, right?

I remember many years ago, I was talking about doing something. My mom said, “Well, I'm sure you'll do that, but it's going to be hard.” I was so glad that she said that because it helped me to realize, oh, gosh, yeah on my family, we have this belief that we can do things, extraordinary things, wonderful things, but a lot of times, it's going to be hard. I realized in that moment, I don't want things to be hard. I don't want that. I don't want that thought in my mind anymore. No. Ease and grace all the way. Ease and grace in all my movements. Ease and grace in all of my experiences and relationships. No more hard. I don't mind challenging. I like it when things are inviting me to let go of the past, and a lot of times that feels challenging. I don't mind being challenged. I grow through the challenges, but I don't like it to be hard. I just don't like that at all. I really don't. I can live forever without things being hard. Hmm. Yes. You see what you expect and you expect what you invite.

“When You Want Only Love, You Will See Nothing Else”

“Your perception is the result of your invitation, coming to you as you sent for it.”

Right? This is right in alignment with the Responsibility for Sight that we take responsibility for everything we see, because everything is just as we wish it to be. This helps us to understand that. You see what you expect and you expect what you invite.

“Your perception is the result of your invitation, coming to you as you sent for it. Whose manifestations would you see?” In other words, yours or the Holy Spirit's?

“Of whose presence would you be convinced?” The angel or the devil?

“For you will believe in what you manifest, and as you look out, so will you see in. Two ways of looking at the world are in your mind...” the ego’s way or the Holy Spirit’s way.” ...and your perception will reflect the guidance you have chosen.”

That’s why if I’m not at Peace, I must have chosen wrongly, right? That beautiful prayer at the end of Chapter 5.

“I am the manifestation...” So, this is Jesus. “I am the manifestation of the Holy Spirit, and when you see Me, it will be because you have invited Him.” Invited the Holy Spirit. “For the Holy Spirit will send you His witnesses if you will but look upon them. Remember always that you see what you seek, for what you seek you will find.”

This is why we keep our attention on seeking the Kingdom and by seeking the Kingdom, we are serving the Light. We are working for God, Incorporated.

“The ego finds what it seeks and only that. It does not find love, for that is not what it is seeking. Yet seeking and finding are the same, and if you seek for two goals you will find them, but you will recognize neither.”

We can’t seek for Love and judgment at the same time.

“For you will think they are the same because you want them both of them.”

That’s what happens in the special relationship. In a special relationship, our judgment is that this person completes me, or the situation completes me. This job completes, validates me. If we think that the job validates me, or the person validates me, or the perfect body validates me, anything in the world, if that’s where we’re looking to get our completion and our validation from, even if we accomplish it, we won’t feel the Love, the validation, the completion.

That’s why the ego is a thought system of seeking without finding. A little bit later here, it says—and I love this. It’s Paragraph 8.

“When you want only love, you will see nothing else.”

Then in Paragraph 9 it says, “You cannot really give anything but love to anyone or anything, nor can you really receive anything but love from them.”

“When you want only love, you will see nothing else.”

Everything in this world is designed to call us to serve the Light. There is no greater Joy than to serve the Light. There is no greater Joy than to serve the Light. There is no greater to Joy and we do it by being loving. We do it by aligning with Love and letting Love in, and relinquishing the thoughts that are so painful, so distressful, so depressing. Yes. Yes!

Closing Prayer

Let's go into a prayer here.

So grateful and thankful to choose a life of Love. Grateful and thankful to open our hearts to the power and the presence of Love healing us now. We're grateful and thankful to give all worries and concerns, all problem and fear to the Holy Spirit for healing. We're holding nothing back. We are seeking the Kingdom first.

In gratitude, we share the benefits with everyone because we're One with them. In gratitude, we let it be, and so it is. Amen. Amen, Amen, Amen.

God bless you. I love you. Have an amazing rest of your week. Mwah!
