Prayer for Allowing the Wound to Heal

Hello beautiful this is Jennifer Hadley and our prayer for today is for allowing the wound to heal we are letting our wounds heal. We do not need to carry them. We do not need to wear them as a badge of any kind whatsoever, we are grateful and thankful to allow our wounds to heal we're grateful to allow ourselves to truly let go of the past and to step into the now moment where the love is so we place our hand upon our heart and we rise up with gratitude and love, love in our hearts, we are willing to focus on love grateful that love is our true natures are true identity so it's natural for us to love and there is so much to be grateful for we are grateful that we can focus on gratitude instead of pain and suffering that we have a choice to move our attention to gratitude and knowing that gratitude multiplies the good we allowing ourselves to heal, we are allowing the wounds to heal, and we are remembering that in truth, we cannot be wounded so we're relinquishing our attachments to seeing ourselves as the wounded ones, so grateful and thankful for all that we have learned and now we are ready to take a turn and move in a new direction of wholeness and beauty and magnificent so grateful to relinquish the burdens of the past, we share the benefits with everyone that is for certain so we are grateful to extend those benefits to our brothers and sisters around the world who are suffering. We are grateful to remember that it is our nature to rise up and to live a life of profound love we are allowing this fold with ease and with grace we let it be and so it is amen amen. Amen. Who so good good good good good ha ha ha ha ha thank you for being my prayer partner today. Thank you
